PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Welcome to new members of our club in 2010, every week we seem to sign someone new. I hope you enjoy your AFL experience.

Recently our club committee has endorsed the use of a Club Sports Chaplin. A Sports Chaplin provides support for sports organisations, including administrators, supporters, members, players and family networks. Please see club notice board for further information. Ken Bond is our club Chaplin and Child Protection Officer (CPO). If you see Ken around, introduce yourself and have a chat. A CPO is a requirement from Sydney AFL and they ensure committee and coaches adhere to relevant administration regarding child protection. It is comforting to know your child is in good hands.

Please remember to do your bit for your child's club and come in a help out in the canteen, set up and pack up, cook the barbeque or assist in the ground in the mornings/afternoon. Thank you.

A BIG thank you to Tracey and Dione for taking on this role. Please help these 2 great women in the canteen on your teams allocated home game.

Also a BIG thanks to the Emmett & Spinks families for their kind donation of BBQ supplies. Much appreciated.

Please support our club sponsors as they help us keep rego fees low. If you purchase something from a sponsor, keep the receipt and place it in the box at the canteen with your name and number on it and you'll be in the draw to win a great prize at the seasons end.

INSIDE STORY HEADLINE

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.*

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

BACK PAGE STORY HEADLINE

This story can fit 175-225 words.

If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the attention of readers. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees. If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a list-
